McKinney, Texas.

The 1928 picnic and reunion is now history.

Our friend wonders where the man will now hide who has been hiding behind women's skirts.

The picnic, despite the inclement weather, will go down as an unusually successful event.

Did you realize the fact that the Collin County fair will be upon us before we realize the fact? Prepare your exhibits now.

"O thou invisible spirit of wine, if thou hast no name to be known by, let us call thee devil!" (Othello, Act II, Scene 3.)

We are wondering if you cast your ballot, as every loyal citizen should have done, Saturday? Whether you did or not, vote in the run-off campaign next month.

Says Editor M. B. Smith in the Farmersville Times: Buy advertised goods. Inferior goods are not advertised because they are not worth it.

Diversification has been a life-saver to many farmers, as many Collin farmers will testify. Farmers are getting away from the one-crop idea more and more every year.

We're proud of the title "Magnificent McKinney." May we, as citizens, lived up to all that the title suggests.

The McKinney Municipal band is receiving praise because of its excellent playing during the picnic and reunion. Our band, under the direction of Joe Grissom, is playing at its best and is one of the best municipal musical organizations in any city of McKinney's size.

The new theater, now rapidly taking form on the northwest corner of the public square, is eliciting praise from citizens of the city and county, as well as passers-by and visitors in the city. The new theater will be a distinct addition to the beauty of McKinney when it is completed.

Editor Arthur A. Bagwill in the Plano Star-Courier last week said: the campaign is developing some promising prospects for the Ananias club.

Another thing, just think of poor old Dan Cupid. He never gets a vacation, but must work the year round—and the spring and summer season, when others are enjoying their vacations, are the hardest of all for him.

Five-year-old Lillian Mae Caze of Evansville, Ind., is only five years old, and never had a music lesson, but she can play any piece she ever heard on the piano. "My fingers just go to the right place—I don't know why," the little miss confesses. Which goes to prove that we still have youthful prodigies with us.

Another thing, did you ever hear of a candidate who did not express confidence on the eve of the election? Of course, some of them may not be able to be found after the returns start coming in, but—well, that's another story. Anyway, we had a mighty good bunch of office-seekers in Collin this year.

Now that August is here, we'll soon be thinking about the starting of school next month. As one pupil said recently: "it won't be long now." Most of the boys and girls will really be glad when school starts.

Several successful revival meetings are now in progress in Collin county. All report great interest among the citizens of the community in which they are being held.

DON DAVIS EXTENDS THANKS

To the Voters of Commissioner's Precinct No. 1:

I take this method of publicly thanking my friends and supporters for the splendid vote given me in last Saturday's primary and for the nice plurality given me at the polls. I am indeed grateful to so many of my friends who took an active interest in my behalf and also wish to thank Mr. S. O. Scott, second in the race, who so kindly withdrew in my behalf and the nice things he said about me.

I have no ill will for anyone who saw fit to give their support to either of my honorable opponents. I have nothing but the kindest feeling toward them. You may rest assured that I will give you my best efforts to make you one of the very best commissioners of which I am capable, and I will spare neither time nor effort in fulfilling the many duties of that important office. To this end I ask the co-operation of the people of the entire district.

Sincerely,
DON O. DAVIS.

J. M. LEA WAS AT CONFEDERATE DINNER

In the list of Confederate veterans, who attended the annual Confederate dinner here last Wednesday, July 25, on the opening day of the annual picnic and reunion, appeared the name of J. N. Tea, age 82. The name should have been J. M. Lea. Mr. Lea is one of the few in the honored and fast-thinning ranks of those who fought for the Lost Cause during the Civil war.

DINNER GIVEN E. H. DUNGAN BY J. C. PENNEY COMPANY

In appreciation of his service to the store, a dinner was given E. H. Dungan of the J. C. Penney company store by C. M. Cooper, manager and co-owner, at Lovell's cafe Monday evening. Mr. Dungan is leaving August 10 for Athens, where he will be assistant manager of the new J. C. Penney company store. Mr. Cooper acted as toastmaster. In a talk Mr. Cooper declared that their future success would depend on the service they rendered to others. He also spoke on happiness and its influence.

Mr. Dungan is a Collin county reared young man, as is Mrs. Dungan. He started with the local J. C. Penney company store when it was opened here in 1923, as cashier and received promotions in the local store to second man. He has progressed rapidly and was relief manager for the Denison store, and also at the McKinney store last spring during the store convention.

Mr. Dungan's new position is quite a promotion for him as assistant manager of the new store at Athens, and his friends are congratulating him on his honor. Many friends will regret to lose the citizenship of Mr. and Mrs. Dungan, but wish them well in their new home.

Those present at Monday evening's banquet were C. M. Cooper; Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Dungan, Mr. and Mrs. Will Dungan, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Odell, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Stephens, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Franklin, Miss Corrine Stephens, Miss Fletcher Anderson, Miss Willie Mae Holland, Miss Hassie Braswell, Miss Dixie Brimer, Miss Doris Stephens, Miss Margaret Stephens, Mrs. Will Warden, Glenn D. Bryant and Fitzhugh Talbot.

BROTHER MRS. L. T. GAY VISITED HERE

J. W. Crenshaw and two daughters, Oleta and Mrs. John Robinson and the latter's children, returned to their home in Snyder, Texas, Tuesday after a brief visit with his sister, Mrs. L. T. Gay and family, who reside on North Church street, in McKinney. Mr. Crenshaw reported crops to be looking fine in his section of the state, about 350 miles west of here.

Appreciation of Lee Laney.

I am indeed very grateful for the vote I was given in my recent race for commissioner in District No. 1 and bow my head in humble submission to your will and pledge myself to co-operate with the present nominee in helping him fill the important office for which he was nominated.

With no hindrance in four years from now I may again offer my name for your consideration.

Gen. Nobile Back On Italian Soil; After Tragic Adventure

VERONA, Italy, July 31.—Gen. Umberto Nobile and his companion survivors of the dirigible Italia were back on Italian soil today after their tragic adventure.

A train bearing the party's special car, that had proceeded direct from Narvik, Norway, arrived here just after noon and continued on to Rome.

The train is due at Rome at 11 p. m. There will be no official reception at the railway station there, in contrast to the scenes that marked the departure of the Italia men from Italy for the North Pole last spring.

Lieut. Alfredo Viglieri, who remained in charge of the Italia ice camp after General Nobile was rescued by airplane, left the special car here and proceeded to Milan.

Newspapers throughout the country welcomed the party back to Italian soil, and there is expected to be a popular demonstration in the survivors' honor when they arrive at Rome.

Commander Pierozzi, representing the Navy department, met the Italia special car at the frontier today and will remain with it.

Mrs. F. F. Wiggs And Daughter Return Home

Many friends in McKinney enjoyed meeting up again with Mrs. F. F. Wiggs and her attractive little daughter, Elizabeth, who were guests here Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Reinhardt. The Wiggs family resided in McKinney for many years, where Mr. Wiggs was in business, and where they have a host of friends and well-wishers residing. Their home is now in Helena, Ark.

Mr. Wiggs, it will be remembered, has been in ill health for the past several months. Mrs. Wiggs said Sunday that his general health was fine, altough his eyesight was no better.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vollrath and daughter, Betty Sue, and Mrs. Nannie Babb, of Sherman, were also guests in the Reinhardt home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Reinhardt, Mr. and Mrs. Vollrath, Mrs. Babb and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Reinhardt, who were visitors here Sunday from Fort Worth, all accompanied Mrs. Wiggs and her little daughter to Dallas Sunday afternoon, where she left for home in Helena, Ark.

TEXAS SENATE TO HAVE MANY NEW MEMBERS

AT LEAST 12, POSSIBLY 15, PRESENT SOLONS TO BE REPLACED.

AUSTIN, Texas, Aug. 1.—More new faces will be seen in the next State senate than in any session of the Texas legislature of recent years. The number will be at least twelve and may be as many as fifteen. There will be a larger percentage of new members in the senate than any one around the capitol can recall. It comes through several old members being defeated, some who did not run and others who were elected to different offices.

Four members who were holdovers may retire because of election to other offices and this would necessitate special primary election to fill their places. This class includes Senator Ed Westbrook of Sherman, who may be elected county judge of his home county, Senator J. W. Hall of Houston, nominated to be Harris county tax assessor; Senator Robert A. Stuart of Fort Worth, who may be nominated to be district attorney, and Senator Thomas B. Love of Dallas, in the run-off for lieutenant governor.

Pink Parrish of Lubbock, will succeed Senator W. H. Bledsoe, who was not a candidate. Nat Patton of Crockett will succeed Senator H. L. Lewis of Navasota, who did not run; J. W. Stevenson of Victoria will succeed John H. Bailey of Cuero, who did not run; Senator Lloyd Price of Daingerfield was not a candidate for re-election, and his successor will be new; Senator I. D. Fairchild of Lufkin died and a run-off will determine who will succeed him; Senator P. B. Ward of Cleburne did not seek re-election and a run-off will name his successor, and Clint C. Small of Wellington will succeed Senator J. W. Reid of Canyon, who did not run.

Senators defeated include A. E. Wood of Granger and Austin, by John W. Hornsby of Austin; Charles R. Floyd of Paris by Tom DeBerry of Bogata, R. S. Bowers of Caldwell by Charles S. Gainer of Bryan and Jesse R. Smith of Breckenridge by Oliver Cunningham of Abilene. Senators Edgar E. Witt of Waco and Carl C. Hardin of Stephenville were re-elected over opponents, making four out of six opposed senators defeated and two re-elected. Senators Thomas G. Pollard of Tyler and Benjamin F. Berkeley of Alpine were re-elected without opposition.

Julium Real of Kerrville is a candidate for re-election and will be opposed by either Representative Travis B. Moursund or Representative W. A. Williamson of San Antonio, who are contesting in the Democratic run-off to be the nominee. Real is a Republican. The San Antonio district has a way of electing the Republican if the Democratic nominee does not suit the Bexar county majority.

With such a large number of changes in the senate the old guard may not control things as in former years. Senatorial dignity and senatorial courtesy have gone a long way in the past in shaping the course of the senate as guided by the old-timers and the holdovers, but this most unusual change may make for a different atmosphere and possibly inaugurate important changes in the conduct of that body.

17 Executed for Anti-Cantonese Communist Plot

CANTON, China, July 31.—Seventeen persons have been excuted in what the government describes as a new and extensive Communist plot for an uprising.

The business community Monday feared a renewal of riots similar to those of December, 1927, and the early part of 1928.

Government troops throughout Kwangtung province were said to be in a sullen mood. Their ranks contain thousands of Communists who might be involved in an uprising.

The announcement by the government of the discovery of the plot came after weeks of tranquility during which the Kwangsi province group, controlling the Canton government, had succeeded in establishing order.

One hundred and forty-nine Communists, including nine girls were arrested. Thousands of incendiary pamphlets were confiscated.

The Germans are flying more than 40,000 miles a day.

McKinney, Texas.
July 31st, 1928.

On Tuesday afternoon, July 31st, at 2:30 o'clock, a Tom Connally Club was organized in the County Court Room at McKinney. H. A. Finch was chosen as Chairman, J. K. P. Shrader was chosen as Secretary, and Wofford Thompson was chosen as Assistant Secretary. All those present at the meeting were organized as a Central Committee, and the Central Committee was made the nucleus of a county-wide organization to be perfected at as early a date as possible. In order to perfect such organization, the Central Committee issued the following address:

To The Democratic Voters of Collin County:

We, the undersigned democratic voters of Collin County, composing the Central Committee of the Tom Connally Club of Collin County, hereby call a meeting of all democrats who are interested in promoting the nomination and election of the Honorable Tom Connally as United States Senator from Texas, such meeting to be held on next Saturday August 4th, in McKinney; and we hereby call upon all the voting precincts of the County to send representatives to such meeting. The meeting will be held at the Court House in McKinney immediately following the adjournment of the County Democratic Convention on Saturday afternoon, August 4th, 1928.

We, the undersigned, in joining this Tom Connally Club agree to vote for and support him for United State Senator of Texas. Signed,

REV. M. W. LANIER SAYS GLAD TO GET BACK HOME

"We are glad to get back from an extended absence from McKinney and find such marks of prosperity and good fortune prevailing in our home town and such splendid crop prospects as Collin county has," Rev. M. W. Lanier said today. "They are the best we have seen in our trip of a thousand miles, visiting many points in Central and West Texas. Over most of the counties west of Bell county, as far west as Menard, we found crops burning up for rain, and though it came just before we left Menard encampment, it was too late for corn, but will greatly help cotton and ranges."

State S. S. Representative.

As representative of the State Sunday school board, it was Rev. Mr. Lanier's pleasure to teach a good class in the Hill county encampment, and another in the Menard encampment. Each of these assembly grounds is marked with many touches of nature's beauty, and affords many advantages for camping and joyous outdoor life in summer. They are historic spots, inspiring and now are great assets to the religious and social life of today.

Conducts Splendid Revival.

Between the two encampments Rev. Mr. Lanier conducted what proved to be an old-time Holy Ghost revival at the Oenaville church, near Temple. After assisting that church in an enlargement Sunday school campaign, he was invited back to conduct their revival. Although their pastor, Rev. Henry Ford, could not be there because of engagements, the people responded to the gospel, God greatly blessed its preachings, and the meeting was the best the church had had in many years.

There were twenty-three additions to the Baptist church, sixteen of whom Rev. Lanier baptized Sunday afternoon just before leaving for the Menard encampment, 227 miles on west.

"Sunday night we visited Lampasas encampment, where a large group had gathered in their beautiful grounds," he said.

"There is no joy quite so keen to me as conducting a real revival, where so much good is done and to see fine young men and women confess Christ and unite with the church, like I saw at Oenaville. He left Sunday for the Panhandle encampment.

Roman dandies in the first, second and third centuries of our era wore heavy rings in winter, which they exhanged for rings of lighter weight during the summer.

MAN ELECTROCUTED AT GRAND PRAIRIE

FORT WORTH, Texas, July 31.—Charles M. Jeffus, 2103 South Henderson street, a fireman for the Northern Texas Traction company, was electrocuted Monday shortly after noon while working on a pole at Grand Prairie. When the shock came he fell to a cement sidewalk, fracturing his skull and breaking an arm and a leg.

Although a pulmotor was used in an effort to revive him, he died in an hour.

SEND WEEKLY TO PORTER CAVE, N. J.

We are glad to send our paper to the address of Porter Cave, Laurel hotel, Bridgeton, New Jersey. We received the order through Postmaster J. R. Gantt of Princeton. Mr. Cave is an active, progressive young Princeton business man and onion buyer. We are informed that he is now in New Jersey buying and selling onions.

CHRYSLER AND DODGE MERGER IS A REALITY

NEW YORK, July 21.—A new company, third largest in its field, entered the automobile industry today as a result of the ratification by the stockholders of Dodge Bros., Inc., of the plan by which the Dodge concern is consolidated with the Chrysler corporation, headed by Walter P. Chrysler.

The largest merger in the history of the automobile manufacturing business became a reality after, as required by Chrysler, 90 per cent of the Dodge stock had been deposited in approval of the combination. The stockholders' meeting was held yesterday at Baltimore.

The enlarged Chrysler company now ranks with General Motors and the Ford company as one of the giants of the industry. Its resources total approximately $175,000,000, and it had $180,000,000 in working capital with a capacity of 700,000 cars and trucks a year.

L. R. GIBSON RENEWS.

L. R. Gibson, 5842 Llano street, Dallas, Texas, renews for the Daily Courier-Gazette for another three months. Mr. and Mrs. Gibson were both born and reared in this county, where their relatives and good friends are legion.

EDITOR RECEIVES CALL FROM LITTLE MISS BETTY CULWELL

Mrs. T. E. Culwell and little 2-year-old daughter, Betty Jean, of Dallas, spent the week-end at the home of their parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Lepeard in McKinney. Mr. Lepeard is collector for the Daily Courier-Gazette and the Weekly Democrat-Gazette. The editor was honored with a call Saturday evening by little 2-year-old Betty Jean, who is a most beautiful child, and is the pride of her doting grandparents in McKinney and other members of her family.

RENEWS FOR WEEKLY.

Mrs. Pauline Childress, 134 25th St., San Diego, Calif., renews for The Weekly Democrat-Gazette for a year in advance. Mrs. Childress is anxious to get her old home county news every week through the columns of our paper.

PROF. H. E. ROBINSON, PONDER, IN McKINNEY SATURDAY

Prof. H. E. Robinson renews his Daily Courier-Gazette subscription for another three months in advance going to his address at Ponder, Denton county, Texas. Prof. Robinson, wife and little son spent the week-end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Webb, six miles south of McKinney.

Prof. Robinson was formerly principal of the Lovejoy school in this county, and was prominent in educational circles of our county before going over to Denton a year or two ago as superintendent of the Ponder school. Prof. Robison is working this summer on his college degree in the North Texas State Teachers' college at Denton. He reports the attendance this summer at the N. T. S. T. C. to be larger than ever before.

MR. AND MRS. J. O. WILKES MOVE INTO NEW HOME

Mrs. J. O. Wilkes of Floydada, Texas, sends Daily Courier-Gazette renewal subscription for three months in advance. Mr. and Mrs. Wilkes formerly lived in McKinney, where he was a prominent contractor and builder. Mrs. Wilkes states that they have just moved into their new home at Floydada, which would not be complete without the daily visit of the Daily Courier-Gazette with the news concerning her numerous old home town friends and acquaintances. We regretted to see Mr. and Mrs. Wilkes move away from our city, but nevertheless, we wish them success in their new home in West Texas.

An Influential Frisco Citizen Is Visitor Here

George Robinson, our good Frisco friend, was in the city Monday. He was judge in that box in Saturday's primary election and brought in the returns. Mr. Robinson is one of Frisco's most influential citizens. He was born only a few miles west of Frisco in a log cabin. He was reared on a farm, and in those respects is admirably qualified to run for public office, according to old-time notions. He is also qualified in many other ways—having the brains and integrity and accommodating spirit to make an ideal servant, should he ever be called to occupy an official position. We are always glad to meet up with our good friend, Robinson.

CROPS EXCEPTIONALLY GOOD IN SOUTHWEST COLLIN

Joe Bailey Mills, who cultivates a part of the farm of T. W. Gibbons of the Bush School house community, twelve miles southwest of McKinney, was in the city Monday. He is mighty well pleased with his cotton crop prospects at the present time. He says that corn is good in his community and, in fact, better than it has been for several years. That section of Southwest Collin has not had as much rain as some other parts of the county recently.

Miss Ina Sue Finley of Celina is visiting her friend, Miss Anita Gross, in this city.

Northeast Collin Farmer Lived There 62 Years

Claude McFerrin of Westminster, favored our office with a visit Monday. He states that crops are looking well in his part of the county. A good corn crop is already made. Feed crops are also doing well, but cotton is getting a little too much rain, in his opinion, for its good. However, present prospects look favorable.

Mr. McFerren's parents, J. C. McFerren and wife, are still living up there on their farm. His father came from Mississippi to Texas in an ox wagon in 1866, and settled at Pilot Grove, about 4 miles north of Westminster, where he and his dear old wife are still living. They have witnessed a marvelous development in our great county during their sixty-two years' residence in it.

W. H. Crouch of Hobart, Okla. Visits Here

W. H. Crouch of Hobart, Kiowa county, Oklahoma, and two daughters have been visiting relatives in and around McKinney, Allen and Melissa. His son, George Crouch and wife, are also visiting here, being the guests of her father, Charlie Robinson, who lives on one of Judge H. L. Davis' farms in the Hedgcoxe school house community about 7 or 8 miles southwest of McKinney. W. H. Crouch is a brother of Tom S. Crouch of Melissa, whom he visited and also visited his old neighbor and friend, J. H. Rogers and family of near Melissa.

While here Mr. Crouch renewed for the Weekly Democrat-Gazette for another year in advance. He was a successful farmer of this county for twenty-four years, until he moved to his present home in Oklahoma four years ago, where he states that he made a good crop last year. Some of his cotton made as much as a bale per acre. The boll weevil and boll worm did not seem to be so disastrous to them in that part of Oklahoma last year. Mr. Crouch and family are well pleased with their new Oklahoma home, as they have found it to be not only a good farming section, but is also inhabited by a splendid type of citizenship and they have plenty of good schools and churches. We were delighted to meet up with our old friend again.

J. A. QUILLEN ORDERS ADDRESS CHANGED

J. A. Quillen, Box 9, Route 2, Fort Worth, orders his address changed from Route 3, McKinney. Mr. Quillen holds a good position with a floral company in Fort Worth. His wife is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Arnold, a worthy farm couple living in the Woodlawn community, about four miles northeast of McKinney.

Chester Carter In Runoff For Constable

To the Voters of Precinct 4:

I take this method of publicly thanking each and every one in my precinct for their help and assistance given me in the race for constable, Precinct 4. I was only four votes behind the leading man in the July 28th primary, and wish to say that I will thank any and all voters for anything they can do for me in the run-off primary. If elected, I promise to fulfill the duties of my office in a conscientious manner and to the best of my knowledge and ability.

CHESTER A. CARTER.

Boy Scout Writes Home From Calif.

Durwood Lucy, who is now visiting with his mother and sister in California, writes back home that he is having an enjoyable visit and is enjoying ideal California weather. He went deep-sea fishing on a barge three miles off the coast. His catch included seven mackerel, the largest weighing about three pounds. On the first day of July he visited the battleship Mississippi, and on the Fourth of July spent the day in El Signore.

Durwood will return about the middle of August staying a week in the Yosemite National park, coming back via the giant Sequoyah forest.

Durwood is one of the scouts of Macon H. Porter's troop of scouts, Troop No. 1. He holds the rank of star scout, and is one of the troop's best swimmers. The boys of the troop are glad to hear that he is having a fine time.

Durwood is the son of Bogan Lucy, proprietor of the Cotton Mill Barber shop and pressing plant.

TWO EXCEPTIONALLY GOOD MEN LONG BUSINESS PARTNERS

Willie Bob Saunders came into our office Monday to get the election returns. For several years he has lived on Prof. W. S. Smith's farm in the Chambersville community. It is a rare thing to find two men who are so universally esteemed associated together as landlord and tenant, as is in the case of Prof. W. S. Smith and Willie Bob Saunders. The county does not contain two better men.

Worry is the only interest paid by those who borrow trouble.

S. G. (SHIRLEY) TAYLOR'S APPRECIATION

I wish to express my thanks and appreciation for the nice vote that was given me on last Saturday. I will endeavor so to act and serve the people so as to cause you to have no regrets of having supported me.

S. G. (Shirley) TAYLOR,
Democratic Nominee for County Clerk.

Democrats Are Committed To Wet Policy, Says Reed

U. S. SENATOR JAMES A. REED OF MISSOURI MAKES PLEA FOR AL SMITH.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 1.—The nomination of Gov. Alfred E. Smith for president committed the Democratic party to a policy of revision or repeal of the Eighteenth amendment, Senator James A. Reed declared Monday night in an address in behalf of James A. Collett, candidate for United States senator.

Collett, who has announced he will support Governor Smith on his prohibition views, is opposed by Charles M. Hay, St. Louis, a dry and a political enemy of the Missouri senator. In campaign addresses Hay had delclared he stands on the Houston platform, which provides for the enforcement of the law.

"I protest against the Heflinizing of Missouri,' Senator Reed said. "I know Tom Heflin and I know Charlie Hay. I say to you they are as much alike as two slices of beef off the same carcass—only Hay comes a little nearer the horns.

Smith Vs. Prohibition.

"Every speech against the attitude of Smith on the prohibition question is a speech against his election, and it is likewise a speech in favor of the election of Herbert Hoover. If Hay, a dry, is nominated, he will be in this position:

"Hay will be making speeches in favor of the Volstead act and the Eighteenth amendment and thereby alienating votes from Smith. And men who defend Smith in his position will be making speeches against our nominee for the senate.

Hoover and Farmers.

"The strangest attack the Democrats possibly can make on Herbert Hoover is that he came here as an emissary of Great Britain for the purpose of forcing down the prices of American farm products for the benefit of Great Britain and her European allies, and that in pursuit of that plan he arbitrarily and by the abuse of power given him to license grain dealers and millers and to control exports, fixed an arbitrary price on the products of the farm. This price was far below the world market."

LEBANON PRIMARY VOTE WAS UNUSUALLY LIGHT

M. L. Mallow, judge of the Lebanon primary election held Saturday, brought in his election box and ballots and made the Returns Monday. Mr. Mallow says that the vote at his box was unusually light. Crops are looking very well, but on account of so much rain are getting in the weeds somewhat. We need dry weather and sunshine Mr. Mallow says, in order to make a good cotton crop this fall and to protect the plant from pests.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to thank one and all who rendered any kind of service to our dear uncle, W. Murdock, during his recent illness, or assisted us before or after his death. We deeply appreciate your kind acts, words and beautiful flowers sent in his memory.
MR. AND MRS. TOMMY MURDOCK

LOVEJOY

Miss Roby Nelson, Correspondent.

Farm work is progressing nicely. A few more days of pretty weather and all farmers will be ready to step out of the plow handles, turn "old Jack" in to the pasture and take a long vacation, while the women folks are filling the pantry shelves will all kinds of good things to eat. We believe in planning during the summer months to keep starvation from our back doors during the winer.

Our protacted meeting closed July 17. The attendance was few in number, due to so much work, which needed to be done in the fields. Rev. E. W. Massey, pastor of the Baptist church at Fluvanna, and former pastor of the Baptist church here, did the preaching.

Richard Strickland happened to a painful accident Friday, while working in his field. His team became very frightened and ran away throwing him on a sharp plow on the cultivator, on which he was riding, and inflicting a deep cut about four inches long on one of his lower limbs. He was rushed to McKinney, where he received medical aid and was reported doing nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowery of Ada, Oklahoma, have been visiting relatives here and in other parts of South Collin.

W. W. Burk and family of Clearlake visited here recently.

Misses Reppie and Betty Nelson were guests of Miss Lela Forshee of McKinney Saturday night and Sunday.

Those who have been on the sick list are Fred Petway, suffering from blood poison; Leo Graham, with malaria fever, and Marshal Roy Martin.

Kirby Carter of Wichita Falls spent the week-end in McKinney with his cousin, R. A. Joplin and family. He was en route home from points in Tennessee, where he had been visiting relatives.

I AM VERY THANKFUL

MILLER MFG. CO. BAND TO PLAY HERE ON FRIDAY NIGHT

Director Joe Grissom of the McKinney Municipal band has prevailed upon Ralph Beck, director of the C. R. Miller Manufacturing company band of Dallas, to come to McKinney Friday night of this week, August 3, to give a concert at 8 o'clock at Finch park. The concert will take the place of the regular weekly concert by the McKinney Municipal band.

The Miller company band comprises twenty-five pieces and is considered one of the best musical organizations in Dallas. It will be interesting to McKinney folks to learn that Mr. Beck and Mr. Grissom both started out together in music in the old Waxahachie Lone Star band, about fifteen years ago. Since that time both Messrs. Beck and Grissom have made rapid strides forward in music and today are recognized as among the state's leading band directors.

The Miller Manufacturing band, local citizens will remember, was at Greenville to attend the recent East Texas Chamber of Commerce convention, and was one of the prize-winners there. In the contest in which they entered, forty-five bands participated, the highest score being 88, and the Miller band made a score of 85. The McKinney Municipal band did not enter the contest, entering only in the parade in the McKinney division.

Grows Sunflowers

Bob Patterson, good farmer, who resides north of town, states he is strong for diversification and is experimenting with a new crop which he expects to revolutionize farming in this section and bring great prosperity to our people. Bob is perfecting a new variety of sunflowers and will plant several acres in this crop this fall. This special sunflower is expected to prove a very prolific crop, furnishing food for poultry and stock, also providing the foundation for a new and effective medicine which is intended to cure any and all cases of "the blues" at any time of the year. Bob believes he will be able to cash in on his new venture in diversification until the idea spreads among his neighbors and friends.—Farmersville Times.

L. A. SEARS IS GRATEFUL THOUGH NOT SUCCESSFUL

To the Voters:

In this manner I wish to sincerely thank those voters who supported my candidacy for county clerk in the recent primary. You can never know how much I appreciate your work of confidence and loyalty and I trust that I may in some way, some time, return in a more substantial way your favors. Allow me to also say to those who felt impelled to support either one of my esteemed opponents, that no feeling of resentment or enmity is felt toward you. In fact, I crave your friendship and hearty good will just like you have mine in all your undertakings. All were most courteous and considerate in their attitude toward me and I want you to know that I am also grateful to you. With best wishes to one and all, including my successful opponent, and his forthcoming administration, I am

3,800 REGISTER AT A. & M. FOR SHORT COURSE

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, July 30.—With the largest number of registrations in the history of the course, the nineteenth annual farmers' short course opened at Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college Monday. Over 3,800 were registered, of wom, 1,700 were farm club boys and girls. Among the adults, women greatly outnumbered the men.

The visitors were welcomed by President T. O. Walton. He expressed pleasure at the large attendance and declared that those present represented 500,000 farm homes and a rural population of 1,500,000.

Leon Ransom of Dawson county was named chairman for the group of 4-H club boys and girls. Mrs. W. D. Kysear of Brownwood, Mrs. J. F. Bodine of Colorado, Mrs. Bert Tankersley of Terrell, Mrs. M. S. Hudson of Hale Center and Mrs. W. E. Miller of Floydada were awarded the title of master farm home-maker because of their excellence in rural home-making.

Uniform Quality Needed.

A growing demand has been evident in the cotton market in the last few years for a more uniform quality of cotton, particularly as regards uniformity in the length of the staple. D. T. Killough, agronomist of the experiment station of the college, brought out in a discussion of "The Value of Improved Cotton Seed" before the crops and farm engineering group. "This demand has caused cotton breeders to give more attention to the development of strains of cotton having a more uniform length of lint. Such cotton, which usually sells for a premium on the contral or staple markets, has greater spinning utility, since the percentage of waste is less, and is therefore more in demand by spinners than cotton having fibers of irregular length. This irregularity in the length of fibers frequently results from the use of mixed or inferior planting seed."

Discuss Machines.

Harvesting cotton by mechanical means has now resolved itself into two ways of attacking the problem, one by attempting to take the fiber out of the cotton boll while it is in the field, the other by stripping the boll, with the cotton still in it, off the stalk, D. Scoates, professor of agricultural engineering of the college, said in a discussion of the "Present Status of Cotton Harvesting Machines" before the group.

The History of Our Food—Potatoes

By C. E. MILTON

Next to wheat in importance as an article of diet, potatoes stand second in the choice of the great masses of mankind. We would naturally reach this conclusion judging from the standpoint of production and consumption of food commodities.

It is a peculiar incident in history that the East should give the West its start of wheat and the West should give to the East its start of potatoes and each should become more extensively grown in its adopted country, than in its native land. But such is the case with the world's two foremost commodities of food.

The original home of potatoes is in the valleys of the Rocky mountains of Chile and Peru. However, potatoes have been found wild in Southwestern Colorado.

The Spaniards found the natives of Chile and Peru growing potatoes on their expedition through that country in about 1553. On their return to the home-land they carried back with them a supply, which were first planted in Spain ,then in Italy and later to Western Europe.

At first potatoes did not gain rapidly in favor with the people of the old world till about the beginning of the 17th century, when the colonists sent over by Sir Walter Raleigh, returned to England with a stock of potatoes from Virginia, where the colonists evidently secured them from the Spanish traders. These potatoes were first planted on Sir Walter Raleigh's estate in Cork. The Irish were quick to recognize the value of potatoes as a food and began growing them on a commercial scale. They were first known to the trade as potatoes from Ireland, then Irish potatoes.

Boy Scouts Travel In Roving Camps

Since the advent of excellent roads into all parts of the United States the boys and their parents in the Boy Scouts of America have felt a need of some type of camp that would also furnish travel as well as the health and experience of an established camp.

Hundreds of boys are now taking to this plan and traveling camps are being organized all over the nation. The St. Louis Boy scouts are the leaders in this new work. A caravan of St. Louis scouts are now touring the eastern part of the United States visiting many historic spots and learning as they view.

The roving camp travels in busses, slightly reminiscent of the old-time covered wagons, but more comfortable. They have a cook shack, baggage car and other conveniences.

Scout leaders of St. Louis consider the experience to be very valuable for the boys. Their camp travels 2,000 miles and touches many historic points. In addition, the boys are in groups under competent adult guidance and leadership.

The executive board of the Boy Scouts of America, at its last meeting, drew up rules and regulations governing the requirements for these roving scout camps. The trips must be conducted in only the most thorough-going manner to be approved by the scout board.

It is probable that some Collin county scouts may be able to take one or more of these interesting trips. A caravan may even be organized in Collin as other nearby counties.

CHESTER A. CARTER SEEKS SUPPORT CONSTABLE PREC. 4

FITTED BY PHYSIQUE, TEMPERAMENT AND OTHERWISE TO MAKE PEACE OFFICER.

Chester A. Carter, the good-natured, big, young Franklin School house community farmer, dropped in to see us Monday and to leave a message of good will and a solicitation through the columns of our papers to the voters in Precinct No. 4 to give him their support for constable in the run-off primary next month. Mr. Carter was within four votes of the leader in his race in the Democratic primary of July 28.

His precinct includes the voting boxes at Roland, Weston, North and South Celina. Chester looks like he was born to the position of a peace officer, and has had some experience in that line, and feels like if the voters, both men and women of his precinct, are going to favor him with their endorsement in the run-off of August 25. He will make a good one if elected. In fact his friends are expecting him to advance in public service and to be sheriff of this, his native county, some day. Read his message to the voters of our county elsewhere in this issue.

Records of a Busy Life—No. 71

Some of the 19th Century Program

Before beginning my records of the 20th Century I wish to note some of advances and discoveries made by men during the 19th century. I shall only note a few utility lines of progress. It was my privilege to live for 66 years of this period of the world's history. During this time I have been in public service for 32 years of that century and 28 of the present century, 60 years in all. During this time I have learned from men and women born at or near the beginning of that century. My own father was born in 1815 and my wife's father in 1809. From both I learned much of the conditions before I was born. I have lived in the, as it seems the most active age of discovery and invention.

The Human Family.

This large family is divided into two classes called producers and consumers. In the early history of the race we learn that the first pair were to assist nature to produce fruit and also to consume what they needed. They were forbidden to consume the fruit of one tree. In the vegetable kingdom to day are fruits which if consumed by man produce death. How man learned the good from the poison was by study and experience. In this way he learned what was good and nutritious food and what was poisonous. He also in his study discovered some antidotes for poison. God created the vegetable and mineral containing remedies but left man to discover them.

Medical Science.

This is the field in which medical science has made some wonderful discoveries during this period of time, while these students of nature have not prevented death, (a condition to come to all at some time) yet they have learned how to relieve suffering and prolong life.

Utilities of Life.

Both the producer and the consumer need certain equipment in order to succeed. The first I mention is light. The sun during the day, but not the night. So some plan must be discovered to give light at night when no moon shines.

History of Artificial Light

The history of the methods of lighting homes is an interesting one showing both the talent of invention and discovery of men. Before the discovery of coal oil the grease light and the tallow candle. For large lights to hold socials, pine knots and hickory bark were used. Some of our great statesmen and our early ministers studied by such lights. As the moulding and use of candles was a great advance from the grease bowl so the oil lamp was over the candle. But the candle has its day for many years. It was honored by very ornamental candle sticks of brass, silver and gold. It became the unit of measure for a light. Even the oil lamp was said to be so many candle powers. It also was made the hour for preaching or other public gathering. Notices read as follows: Services begin at early candle lighting." Coal oil yet used in all rural homes with a few exceptions. Infact slow candles are not entirely laid away.

Gas Light.

Some hotels and business houses were lighted by manufactured gas before electric lights began to be used. Now we turn on the lights and night is light as day. A wonderful advancement.

Kind of Fuel.

At the beginning of the 19th century the fuel for home use was wood, which is yet the main reliance in many places. We have never seen anything more cheerful than a good wood fire in a well shaped fire place on a cold winter night to sit by till bed time. For commercial use wood was burned into charcoal.

It was found that many places in our earth and had millions of tons of coal to be used by man if he would get it out and use it. Coal will continue to be used for certain purposes for all time.

Now oil and gas are largely used for fuel. Man had to discover these and learn to utilize them for the good of his race. The power of discovery and use is intelligence.

Saving the Products of the Soil

The producer has usually been a tiller of the soil. He cooperates with the soil and the season to produce for the consumer. God has given him soil and material but no tools. He must use his intellect to provide tools and machinery to do this work. The first atom in this evolution is a single "bull tongue" plow and a "bowshear" with wooden mould board. At the close of the 19th century we have the most modern machinery for cultivatiton all because of man's intellectual powers. It has taken many years of time and a great many different intellects to accomplish this wonderful advancement.

Saving Grain.

Among the early settlers of the 19th century the reap hook was succeded by mowing scythe and this by the scythe and cradle. I lived and labored where all were used. We next had a machine with modern sickle and reel and platform on which the cut wheat fell in a swath that was raked off with a fork by a man who stood on a platform. The next improvement was a dropper that the driver on the machine by use of a lever let the platform drop at the back and the wheat slid off in size for a bundle which was bound by hand with a bunch of grain. The next improvement was a revolving rake that raked it off in size for bundles. This only required one man to the machine. The binders stationed around the land bound it as it was cut. During this work men who bound the grain were in the hot sun. Mr. Marsh conceived the idea of attaching an elevator to the machine that put the grain on a table behind which two men stood with shade over them and bound the bundles and dropped them down for the shockers.

Self Binder.

The next advance was a machine that bound the bundles with small wire. The next was the use of twine in place of wire as we have today. In California and West Texas we have the combine that cuts the grain, threshes it and empties it into trucks or wagons to be hauled to the elevators. These are wonderful advancements in utilities to be the work of men. Our ancestors the monkey (?) still hangs by his tail and makes no improvements.

Clyde Stewart doesn't like Collin county onions any more. With his wife and daughter, Miss Paula, he came up to Altoga to spent their vacation. While driving his car east of Altoga some one had unloaded a wagon bed of culls in a mud hole. Clyde ran into them and stuck up (or down) as he tried to pull out the onion juice made the way slicker. So he had to have help to move on. And now he doesn't like Collin county onions at all.

Friends regret to hear that Fred Mitchell is in bad health and has gone to Mexico. Fred is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Mitchell of this community. Mr. Mitchell and family moved to oPst in West Texas a few years ago, where his health had been improving, until a few months past. His wife (Miss Gordie Carey) and children are at Post making a crop there.

Friends have received a letter from a former pastor, Rev. E. P. West who is at Hamilton, N. C. Bro. West has two half time churches, having just completed a new church at one place, which has doubled in membership since his going there. We are sorry to note that his health isn't much improved since he left here. Bro. West attended the World Alliance, Canada. They sent greetings to all their friends here. The new miss who has joined them since they left here, is 18 months old and named "Mary Evelyn."

N. D. READY THANKS VOTERS

To the Citizenship of Collin County:

I wish to express my sincere thanks to each and everyone who has in any way assisted me in my campaign up to this date and for the splendid vote given me on July 28.

I promise you, if elected, to give you a business administration, an administration of service rendered with courtesy and with pleasure.

I do not promise to make you the best tax collector Collin county has ever had, but I do promise you the best there is in me, and if my experience and what natural ability I may possess, shall make it possible for me to make a better collector than you have ever had, then I assure you, that you shall have the benefit of that possibility.

Very sincerely,

N. D. READY,
Candidate for Tax Collector.

It's so easy to freeze desserts at home

We used to think—"Why bother with a freezer? We can buy ice-cream at the drug store."

But Father and the kiddies grew tired of vanilla and chocolate, so we bought a freezer. Now we have lots more variety, and our cream is so much better than the store kind!

We got

because its double action freezes the cream in three minutes. Besides, the aerating spoon dasher makes things — oh, so smooth and good!

With Bayonets Fixed, Militia Charges on Crowd of 10,000 as 256 Strike Pickets Are Jailed

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., July 30 —The National guard, with fixed bayonets, Monday night cleared a crowd estimated at 10,000 persons from the vicinity of the Central Police station, where it had gathered in a demonstration against the detention of several score of textile strike picketers.

Some stones were hurled as the guardsmen, eighty men of Battery E, Coast artillery, appeared. But the crowd fell back quickly under the menace of the advancing blades. The only casualty reported was a reserve police officer, struck in the chest by a missile.

Quiet was restored after the streets had been cleared for two blocks on each side of the station. Squads of soldiers replaced policemen on duty in the center of the city and took up the task of directing traffic at important corners.

A round-up of picketers during the afternoon, resulting in 256 prisoners, barely had been completed when the crowds began gathering around the central station.

At first the assemblage was orderly, but inside the jail the prisoners sang, shouted and banged on the walls. As the crowd continued to swell, Chief of Police McLeod decided to call for Battery E, held in the armory against an emergency.

While the guardsmen were on the way, deputy sheriffs went out to the crowd and started to read the riot act. They were greeted with jeers. The reading had not been completed when the soldiers swung into sight and proceeded to clear the streets.

At the meeting of the textile council Monday night it was voted to submit the proposition of arbitrating the present strike to the various unions affiliated with the United Textile Workers, the unions to vote on the proposal by next Thursday night.

The textile mills committee group, the radical element in the strike, is made up of workers not affiliated with the regular unions.

Vernon Williams Gracefully Bows To Will of Majority

While my candidacy was not successful for the office of tax assessor, I am, nevertheless, appreciative of the kindly consideration that I received at the hands of everybody. I am profoundly grateful to those who voted for me or exerted any influence whatsoever in behalf of my candidacy. I hope some time to have the opportunity of showing my appreciation in a more substantial way. To those who did not see their way clear to vote for me and cast their ballots for some of the other splendid gentlemen in the race, I hold no ill will, and also wish to assure you that I entertain no ill will toward you. You exercised your right as American citizens to cast your ballot as you deemed best. We are all friends and I hope to merit your good will and continued friendship regardless of how you voted. I congratulate Mr. Moss on his victory at the polls, and he has my very best wishes for a successful administration.

Very respectfully,
VERNON WILLIAMS.

Fish Won't Bite for Hoover; Has Too Many Photographers Around

BROWN'S CAMP, NEAR HORNBROOK, Cal., July 31.—Completing a 650-mile automobile tour from Stanford, Herbert Hoover arrived here Monday for three days of fishing near the headwaters of the Klamath river.

The Republican presidential candidate was a guest of his friend. Esberg, San Francisco banker and business man, at a cabin perched on a low hillside in the gorge through which the Klamath makes its way southwestward.

Before leaving Medford for the last sixty miles of a run over the Siskiyou mountains Mr. Hoover spent two hours casting in the Rogue river at the Big Creek lodge fifteen miles from Medford. He had no luck, as enterprising photographers, local as well as those who accompanied him from Stanford, pursued him so closely in an effort to get a shot of him landing a steelhead trout that the fish would not bite.

J. P. HAYES OF BLOOMDALE ABLE TO COME TO TOWN

J. P. Hayes a respected farmer of the Bloomdale community, came in Monday in the car with his sons, Roy and Verbie, on business, and to get election returns. Mr. Hayes' left side has been partially paralyzed for several years, and he is not able to work. He says that he gets so tired sitting around the house, that if he were able to work that he believes he would be willing to do more work than anybody. Mr. Hayes is one of our most worthy citizens. He says that he is not at all pleased with Al Smith's nomination and that he can not vote for him in the November election.

SEA SCOUT TOTAL REACHES 3,000 MARK

The Sea scout division of the Boy Scouts of America devoted to the training of boys interested in water craft, reached a total registration of 3,000, May 9, according to recent checkups. The registration of William Lyons of North Street, Decatur, Ill., was received late in the evening of the 29th. William Lyons was registered as a member of the Sea scout ship "Lightning."

For some time it has been of national interest as to what ship would complete the enrollment to the 3,000 mark.

Thomas J. Keane is the national Sea scout director. In his last report he states that sea scouting has greatly increased in favor among the boys of the nation. Enrollment is increasing and new ships are being secured all over the United States.

L. B. WYATT JR., RULE MERCHANT, ATTENDS PICNIC

Our office received a welcome call Friday from L. B. Wyatt Jr. and Ernest G. Wyatt, both of Rule, Haskell county, Texas. These young men came up to visit among their many friends here, attending the Old Settlers' and old soldiers reunion and picnic. While here, they visited one night with their cousin, I. F. Allcorn on the Heard ranch, southeast of Princeton. They also visited their old Princeton friends, John K. Wilson, A. T. Leake, Charles H. and John Aikin and some others in that section of our county.

L. B. and Ernest G. Wyatt are sons of L. B. Wyatt Sr., and wife, who for ten years, lived on one of Ed West's farms just south of Princeton. They moved from this county to their present home at Rule four years ago, where they like fine. L. B. Wyatt Sr. is the nightwatchman at Rule, while is son, L. B. Jr., is engaged with H. R. Glass, also a former Collin county man, in the produce business there. Mr. Wyatt Jr. is manager of the business, which is known as the Farmers' Produce company.

En route to McKinney, the Wyatt brothers stopped in Fort Worth to visit their sister, Mrs. John R. Brown and then came over to Dallas to visit their grandfather, J. B. Trammell, who now lives there, but who also formerly lived in this county.

These Wyatt brothers say that Rule, which town is in Haskell county, is a splendid farming section. They have not had a failure of crops there in ten years. They have the dear old Democrat-Gazette coming into their home every week and say that they enjoy to the fullest extent perusing its columns every issue, and would regret very much to miss a single copy. L. B. Wyatt Jr., says that former Collinites who don't take the paper are missing much pleasure and information to be obtained from regularly reading its columns which are brimful every issue of their old home county news.

BAND DIRECTORS PRAISE M'KINNEY MUNICIPAL BAND

Three prominent visiting band directors came to McKinney Saturday, and were special guests that night of the McKinney Municipal band, Joe Grissom, director, at the picnic grounds in this city. They were Ralph Beck, director of the Highland Park High school band, the C. R. Miller Manufacturing company band, and the Praetorian band, all of Dallas; Geo. St. Peters, director of the Dallas Elks band and the 44th Infantry band of the State National guards at Midlothian and Wilbur Upchurch of Arlington, director of the Arlington band.

At the invitation of Director Joe Grissom, each of the directors lead the McKinney band in several selections.

All three without exception were high in their praise of the McKinney band and of its capable and well-liked director, Mr. Grissom. They especially commended the fact that there were so many men in the band. This is unusual when one considers the fact that about 90 per cent of the membership of the ordinary band is composed of young boys. McKinney has a right to be proud of and boast about its Municipal band, these visitors said while here.

To Voters Commissioner's District No 2:

Permit me to thank my friends for the splendid vote cast for my candidacy in the primary election, July 28, receiving 940 votes, or above 500 more than my nearest opponent, with four of us in the race. GEORGE P. BROWN THANKS VOTERS

To the Voters of Collin County:

I desire to thank my supporters all over the county for the splendid vote they gave me in the last primary election. By way of encouragement, I wish to say that out of the 47 voting boxes, I got more votes in 18 of them than either of my honorable oppenents; of the remaining 29 voting boxes, I received the second highest vote in 24 of them.

I thank both my opponents for the courtesies shown me in the last campaign—no bitterness was shown on the part of any of us. There shall be none in the run-off election.

I now solicit the support of every voter in the county.

Your friend,
GEORGE P. BROWN.

ABOUT THE PESSIMIST.

The pessimist, says Edson R. Waite, of Shawnee, Okla., isn't as numerous as he seems, but wherever he is, he makes an awful noise. Ability plus tact, plus cleverness, plus honesty makes success, and that is what we are all striving for.

Some men think they know it all, but do they?

Many business men advertise in the newspapers because they believe in their merchandise and in themselves and they want others to do the same.

Nowadays the business men of the cities are going to the business men of the farm, not to teach them how to farm, but to take counsel with them concerning their common problems. Many communities have taken this step and many additional ones have broken down the barriers and are working hand-in-hand with the farmers in solution of their common problems.

"Peace of mind" helps you in your daily work. Have peace of mind by advertising!

A good citizen is one who is willing at all times to make some sacrifice of his time and money to advance the welfare of the community in which he lives. Be a good citizen!

Business must think in the days of today and tomorrow—not in the days of yesterday.

◆ ◆ ◆

GLAD YOU VOTED.

Whether you won your votes or whether you lost, aren't you glad you voted Saturday?

◆ ◆ ◆

A SENSE OF HUMOR.

A friend suggests that it takes a person with a mighty big sense of humor to laugh at the weather at all times throughout the year. For instance, during the past week, when farmers needed to be in their crops, the picnic was in progress, and the election held Saturday.

◆ ◆ ◆

THE BAND.

Bandmaster Joe Grissom complimented the Daily Courier-Gazette and Weekly Democrat-Gazette editors and force with a special concert Friday consisting of two numbers. They also played at some other establishments in the business district of the city. This band looks and plays much better than ever in their brand new uniforms, which public-spirited citizens recently presented them with.

Our band is second to none and the entire city is proud of it. It furnished the music for the 29th annual Old Settlers' picnic and Ex-Confederate reunion this year.

Mrs. F. F. Wiggs And Daughter Return Home

Many friends in McKinney enjoyed meeting up again with Mrs. F. F. Wiggs and her attractive little daughter, Elizabeth, who were guests here Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Reinhardt. The Wiggs family resided in McKinney for many years, where Mr. Wiggs was in business, and where they have a host of friends and well-wishers residing. Their home is now in Helena, Ark.

Mr. Wiggs, it will be remembered, has been in ill health for the past several months. Mrs. Wiggs said Sunday that his general health was fine, altough his eyesight was no better.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vollrath and daughter, Betty Sue, and Mrs. Nannie Babb, of Sherman, were also guests in the Reinhardt home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Reinhardt, Mr. and Mrs. Vollrath, Mrs. Babb and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Reinhardt, who were visitors here Sunday from Fort Worth, all accompanied Mrs. Wiggs and her little daughter to Dallas Sunday afternoon, where she left for home in Helena, Ark.

Kirby Carter of Wichita Falls spent the week-end in McKinney with his cousin, R. A. Joplin and family. He was en route home from points in Tennessee, where he had been visiting relatives.

W. H. Kerr and Ray Loyd, both of Wichita Falls, spent the week-end in McKinney, guests in the home of Mr. Kerr's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Kerr.

Miss Theron Candler of Greenville has been visiting Miss Bernice Bryant in this city.

CLEARLAKE BOX WAS FIRST TO REPORT

Clearlake, 15 miles southeast from McKinney, was the first box reporting returns from Saturday's Democratic primary election. Shortly after 7 o'clock the telephone message from the presiding judge, R. R. Addington, gave the returns of that voting box, and they were immediately posted on the bulletin board here.

By 8 o'clock twenty or more boxes had reported including two or three McKinney boxes, and all sections of the county, giving the large crowd in front of the bulletin boards an indication of the trend of the election in the county.

Hundreds Gathered Here To Receive Returns Of Election Saturday Night

The largest crowd which has heard the election returns here in several years packed North Tennessee street West of the L. V. Graves and Co. store building to hear the election returns as they were received and announced here Saturday night by the Collin County Election Bureau.

Hundreds cheered the returns as they were announced from this office. Dan Moody and other victors in the election were given rousing cheers by the crowd. Countiy interest centered in the county judge, sheriff, county clerk, tax collector and Tax assessor's races. The crowd arrived about 7 o'clock and remained until after midnight.

At 11:30 o'clock Saturday night returns from thirty-nine boxes had been received and posted on the bulletin board.

Most of the boxes were heard from early, many of them having practically all of their votes counted by 7 o'clock, time for the polls to be closed.

At midnight returns from seven boxes were missing—Altoga, Lucas, Millwood, Desert, Dump, Verona, and Cedar.

At intervals news was given of the state races in connection with the announcing of the county results.

It was a good natured crowd and everybody seemed to have a good time, satisfied with the returns as they were announced.

UNUSUALLY LIGHT VOTE CAST OVER COLLIN COUNTY

MOST OF COLLIN BOXES REPORT EARLY; MUCH INTEREST SHOWN.

With slightly more than 7,000 votes cast in Saturday's primary election, all forty-seven county boxes have reported to the Collin County Election bureau, indicating one of the smallest primary votes in recent history, particularly since women were enfranchised. Estimates which placed the total county vote cast July 28, at 9,000 exceeded the vote cast by 2,000. In 1924 11,111 votes were cast and 9,260 votes were polled in 1926.

The small primary vote is attributed to lack of interest upon the part of voters and rain which began falling Saturday morning.

There will be run-off contests for commissioner in District 3, between C. C. Whitt and Commissioner W. M. Baker. District No. 2, Levi Bass and J. W. Spain, District No. 1, Don Davis and S. O. Scott. District No. 4, Lee Cook and Commissioner J. R. Day.

For justice of the peace, Precinct No. 1, L. C. Clifton and J. W. McCullough will enter the run-off.

Blakeman Wins Sheriff.

In the race for sheriff, which attracted unusual attention in the county officers, former Sheriff Ed Blakeman defeated J. Perry Watson by a substantial majority.

For county clerk, S. G. (Shirley) Taylor has defeated both of his opponents by a good size majority.

Orlia J. Moss has been nominated for county tax assessor over two opponents. He, too, won by a large majority.

County Superintendent S. C. Stephens has been renominated by a substantial majority over J. Wesley Moulton.

M. E. O'Neill, Frisco editor, has been nominated for flotorial representative. C. A. Barker, who died a few weeks ago received a small vote. O'Neill will represent Collin and Grayson counties in the state legislature.

Following officers were nominated without opposition: F. E. Wilcox, district judge; Sam E. Bateman, local representative; Halsell S. Davis, district clerk; J. E. Abernathy, county attorney; E. F. Kirby, county treasurer and H. L. Davis, chairman Collin County Democratic Executive committee. Jim Goodner, publice weigher.

There will be run-off contests for tax collector between Dan E. Neathery of Farmersville, and N. D. Ready of McKinney.

For county judge, E. T. Merritt and George P. Brown will be in the run-off race.

Dink Meador, constable, has defeated both of his opponets for re-election.

McKinney, Texas.

Real happiness is not achieved unless one does some really worthwhile work.

We're glad to have the candidates with us. Their smiles and warm handshakes help to brighten the way.

The Jayhawk observes that a little cow-sense might save us from our stupidities.

Is it true that cheerfulness and a sense of humor are rarely found in the same person?

Another thing, wouldn't life become mighty dull if we all agreed on everything?

The ideal character, says Bertrand Russell, has for its basis: vitality, courage, sensitiveness and intelligence.

Many favorable comments have been heard from the large crowd that witnessed the picnic parade Wednesday morning. The parade was a great success.

Inaccurate advertising someone suggests, is worse than no advertising at all. Read the advertisements in these papers of McKinney merchants, who back up their statements with quality goods that please the customers.

"An old saying—and a true—Much drinking, little thinking."—Swift, in letters to Stella.

The Dallas News says not to go to the North Pole if you have only a two weeks' vacation.

Mexico and the United States paid honor to two great citizens of Mexico, Carranza, flyer, and to Obregon, president-elect of Mexico. Both did much to cement the good will between the two nations.

Regardless of the weather conditions overhead, whether or not it is cloudy, there's plenty of sunshine if we but resolve to be cheerful and maintain a sunny disposition all the time.

Texas taxpayers gladly received the announcement recently that the new rate for this year is the lowest that taxpayers have been asked to pay since 1921, when it was fixed at 62c. In the next three years it was 75c, in 1925 it was 77c, in 1926 it was 65c and the last year it was 67c. This year three cents less will be paid on the $100, which is the lowest of any administration of the last fourteen years. We congratulate Governor Dan Moody and his administration on this record.

Jas. B. Duke, a man of outstanding success and genius in the organization and development of a great business, in discussing his own attainments one time stated: "Any young man with common intelligence can succeed if he is willing to apply himself. Superior brains are not necessary. I have succeeded in business, not because I have more natural ability than many people who have not succeeded, but because I have applied myself harder and stuck to it longer. I know plenty of people who have failed to succeed in anything who have more brains than I, but they lacked application and determination. I had confidence in myself."

C. J. Hunter and little son, Charles, of Dallas, were in the city Thursday. Mr. Hunter is a former business man of McKinney.

EDITORIAL CLIPPINGS

NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC CHAIRMAN ON PROHIBITION.

"Social conditions throughout our country have reached a state of decadence that demands correction. My feeling is that a scheme of control of the manufacture, sale, transportation and consumption of intoxicating liquor, under which it may be had for home consumption, and prevent the return of the saloon, which was the medium through which the use of liquor was abused, in such communities as voted therefore under a local option law, would be welcomed by all.

"All right thinking people are for temperance, law and order, but we must have respectable laws if we expect them to be respected.

"All must agree that there is a wide lack of respect for the Eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act, so that it behooves all of us to endeavor to secure such modification of existing laws as will result in the restoration of respect for ourselves, our law and our great constitution."—John J. Raskob, chairman Natinal Democratic committee and director National Organization Opposed to Prohibition.

THE SITUATION.

Crop prospects over Collin, generally speaking, are fine at the present time. The warm rays of Old Sol, with an occasional shower, is bringing the crops to the forefront. Unless some unforseen menace or pest comes around, all crops in the county should prove to be bumper ones this year.—McKinney Courier-Gazette.

Unless the boll weevil comes with all his tribe and kindred, and with starvation appetite, there will be a right smart of cotton raised in North, East and Central Texas this year, which is 1928. The pegs are set for prosperity, although floods may wash them out. A shower or two in early August will be welcome, but the rain must be rather dainty. No cataclysm wanted. Just enough of a downpour to send the cotton roots a few inches deeper and make twelve-inch corn ears out of nubbins. A little more rain may be asked for in what is called West Texas, as Jupiter Pluvius has been rather economical in his attitude toward that large, wide, buoyant country. The price of cotton is acting silly, going down when it ought to go up, but outside of that inadvisable tendency everything is sitting jake, if we may induge in an expressive but inelegant phrase. Few of us have oil wells to worry with, but if raw oil would advance a bit the situation would be greatly helped. Few of us realize how much oil contributes to Texas business, and what a difference to the whole edifice of trade oil activity makes. Since oil went down and employment in the oil fields slumped, there has been a lull all over Texas. But the crops will bring good times back, and if oil will only energize its pay rolls again the people will forget their political sufferings by October. Cattle are already feeling good over the prices they are fetching. If you don't believe it, try to buy a beefstead.—State Press in Dallas News.

Clearlake Revival Now In Progress

The revival being conducted at Clearlake by Rev. M. F. Wheeler of this city and the pastor, Rev. R. L. Stanley, is being well attended. Sunday night Rev. Wheeler preached on the subject "He Hath Borne Our Iniquities." Interest is increasing each night of the services and the crowds are growing larger at each succeeding service.

W. B. Anthony and wife visited relatives at Rockwall Sunday. Mr. Anthony, who is assistant manager of the big Wilcox Lumber yard of this city, says that crops in Rockwall county are more foul and weedy than they seem to be here in Collin. Mr. and Mrs. Anthony were accompanied to Rockwall by Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Gass of Ringgold, Montague county, who have been visiting in McKinney for a few days. Mr. Gass is a brother of Mrs. Anthony.

We received a visit Saturday afternoon from two of our young girl friends, Alta Mae Fordham, daughter of Mrs. R. E. Littlejohn, and Mary Gertrude Lanier, both of the Bloomdale community. These little misses are valued friends of the editor and our paper, and we always welcome them at our office.

Drs. Green and Green were visitors in Dallas Thursday.

Army Dirigible Forced Down at Williamburgs, Va.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., July 28.—The army dirigible TC-10-254 was forced to land Friday on the outskirts of Williamsburg, Va. Officers at Langley Field, home station of the ship, declared the dirigible did not crash as was first reported, but was forced down by a broken rudder.

The six men aboard were not injured and the dirigible was not wrecked, reports to Langley Field said, although it is thought the forced landing may have damaged the airship somewhat.

Capt. C. P. Clark was in command of the dirigible. Also on board were Lieut. J. Flood, Pilot Sergeant Johnson and a number of passengers whose names were not available.

CISCO MERCHANT RENEWS MANY OLD FRIENDSHIPS HERE

We received a visit Thursday from W. S. Shuman of this city and his nephew, Robert S. Elliott, a hardware merchant of Cisco, Texas. Mr. Elliott and wife came up to attend the big picnic, to visit relatives and renew old acquaintances here where Mr. Elliott was born and reared. While in the office Mr. Elliott renewed for the Weekly Democrat-Gazette for another year. He was born near Allen. But his father soon afterward moved to Rock Hill, where his father passed away when the son was only 10 years old. Mr. Elliott was reared then in the home of his grandparents, the late J. Shuman and wife in the Higgins school house community. Mr. and Mrs. Elliott have only one child, a son, Robert Howell Elliott, 17, who is a high school student at Cisco. This young son is a trombonist of unusual talent in the band organization at Cisco. This editor was mighty proud to renew acquaintances with his old-time friend, Mr. Elliott, who moved away from McKinney more than 20 years ago.

The event went off in tip-top shape, and was one of the most enjoyable parades ever witnessed before in McKinney.

They were married on May 17 of this year, and have since been at the home of the groom's parents at Ottowa, Kansas.

DOCTORS IN THE ROTARY CLUB TO GIVE PROGRAM

President Will J. Rhea was in his place as chairman of the Rotary luncheon served this week by the Social Workers in the First Methodist church. Jack Andrews, secretary, called the roll and announced as he went along absentees and those who had made good their attendances with other clubs.

President Rhea had just returned from Detroit, Mich., where he attended the Triennial conclave of the Knight Templars of the United States. He told about attending the Rotary club in Detroit. The table at which he sat with seven others as guests had Rotarians at it from eight different states of the union.

Sick Members.

President Bill Rhea announced that the sick members of the club were slowly improving and he hoped that they would soon be back with their brother Rotarians at these weekly luncheons. Vernie Graves had been fishing two times and so must be getting along nicely. Mayor Tom W. Perkins is recuperating in Mineral Wells. Giles McKinney is also improving. The president regretted to announce the absence for the day of Rotarian Bob Erwin on account of illness. Prof. Carlisle is also improving.

Visitors Present.

Two visitors were introduced by Sergeant-at-Arms Bill Anthony. They were DeWitt F. Rollins, superintendent of public schools at Lakeland, Fla., and J. A. Alexander, a business man of Garland.

Prof. Rollins is a native of Farmersville, where he was reared and is back visiting. He came over to make up his Rotary attendance and by invitation made the principal talk of the day. He is a young educator of pleasing appearance and address, whose catchy speech received much applause and pointed out some impressive lessons to Rotarians. Prof. Rollins' senior high school class, which recently graduated at Lakeland had two hundred members.

J. A. Alexander is an active Rotarian of the Garland club, which organized two years ago. He has a one hundred per cent attendance record since he became a Rotarian two years ago.

Rotary Doctors.

President Bill Rhea announced that next week's meeting would have a program provided by the doctors of the club—Dr. Ben F. Largen, chairman; Dr. W. T. Hoard, Dr. J. C. Erwin and Dr. E. L. Burton.

Courtesy of T. E. Craig.

The secretary announced that Rotarian T. E. Craig, who is spending his vacation in the mountains of New York, made up his attendance record with a club in that state last week. W. K. Waller then announced that some little booklets promoting higher education in the minds and ambitions of high school graduates will be sent to the McKinney senior class complimentary, by the Rotary club through the generosity of "Tex." Craig. Will R. Abernathy, who had read the book, commended it and said it was an impressive presentation of the matter to the young men and women high school graduates, who are making an effort to go on in securing a college and university training.

Mrs. J. M. Pearson returned home Friday from a few days' visit to the home of her daughter, Mrs. R. C. Merritt, in Dallas. She was accompanied up home by Mrs. Merritt, who spent the night with her before returning to her home in Dallas.

Did You Ever Stop To Think

By Edson R. Waite Shawnee, Ok.

I came to Fresno, Calif., to spend a few hours at the Hotel Fresno, but found the hotel and surroundings so delightful that I spent several days there instead of a few hours. I like the hotel; it is so different that I am going to tell you about it.

The Hotel Fresno is not only a social center but is conveniently located in the busy business district and surrounded by five beautiful theaters, two now under construction. It is headquarters for sororities and fraternities, the hotel was gay this week with initiation of several fraternities.

One enters the foyer of the hotel, clerk's desk and office on the right and elevators on life; in the beautiful spacious lobby every evening from six until nine the guests are entertained by an organ recital on the Wurlitzer. The lobby is decorated in blue and gold, large comfortable chairs and Chesterfields, palms and fresh flowers. A unique touch is added by a fountain in the center. There are two beautiful oil paintings of Yosemite National park by Allan Best, who is the most noted of the Yosemite painters.

Probably the most interesting feature is the large colection of the autographed pictures of distinguished personages who have been guests of the hotel.

To the right of the lobby is the dining room where one may see lovely flowering quince and peach blossoms on the snowy tables.

On the mezzanine floor, which entirely surrounds the lobby, are writing desks and divans; the Crystal room, the Blue room, the College room and the Jade room, all on this floor, are very popular for the many teas, luncheons and dinners which are given in the hotel. The privavy of these rooms makes them desirable for fraternity functions which mark the year. I understand this hotel has twenty-six luncheon clubs, which meet there regularly.

The Hotel Fresno is another one of those high class hotels whose management realizes the fact that they cannot "check in" a guest like they check in a hat, for the guest is human, while the hat is not.

JUDGE ANDREWS ADDRESS AT DINNER OF CONFEDERATES

Judge T. C. Andrews delivered the following address before the Confederates at their annual dinner Wednesday:

Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen:—We are thankful to almighy God that we still have with us a remnant of that grand army of 600,000 men whose struggles, sufferings, sacrifies and heroic deeds from '61 to '65 have never been equalled in all the history of the world.

In responding to the address of welcome in behalf of the ex-Confederate soldiers I will say that they gratefully accept the kind invitation of the Daughters of the Confederacy to dine with them.

When they look into the faces of these fair daughters they think of their mothers and grandmothers who more than sixty years ago cheered them on in their heroic struggles. Where can I find suitable words with which to praise the woman of the Confederacy? She prepared the warrior for battle, aroused all the fires of his soul and stimulated him to the most daring achievements. When he was away on distant expeditions she sustained the home with her toils and struggles and with her spinning wheel and loom she turned out cloth to make blankets and clothes for the soldier.

You daughters are honoring yourselves when you honor these soldiers. When the last one of them shall have passed over the river to rest under the shade of the trees with Stonewall Jackson and other immortals you will feel proud that you honored them today. You should never be ashamed of the record of the Old South. The Old South furnished the Patrick Henry, the Morning Star of the revolution, whose thunderbolts of eloquence kindled a flame in every freeman's heart and shook the thrones of Europe. She furnished the George Washington who led the American armies through the fire and blood of a seven years' war and won that Independence, she furnished the James Madison, the father of the Constitution; she furnished the John Marshall whose judicial interpretations gave life and strength to that constitution.

From 1789 to 1861 all the presidents, except about five, were born in the South, and three of said five followed the policies of the Southern statesmen. And during all those years there were no Credit Bobilier scandal, Star Route scandal, or Teapot Dome scandal. And during the World war a southern man guided Old Columbia through the storm and though over 26 billions of dollars were handled by said administration, the opposition concedes that no scandal or graft was connected with it.

I am not ashamed of the Old South. I am not ashamed of Mt. Vernon, where rests the bones of George Washington; I am not ashamed of Monticello, where reposes the dust of Thomas Jefferson; I am not ashamed of the record of the Confederate soldier upon a thousand bloody battlefields. I am not ashamed of his record amid the earthquake throws of Shiloh, where Albert Sydney Johnson died; I am not ashamed of his record amid the blinding sheets of flame at Chancellorsville, where Stonewall Jackson fell; I am not ashamed of his record on the heights of Gettysburg, where Pickett led.

And now, dear old Confederate soldiers, time is fast thinning your ranks. This is no place for tears. I believe a great deal in the philosophy of that Irishman who fell off a ten-story building. As he passed the 5th story going down, some people screamed and he retorted, "Dry up, I'm not hurt yet." So while some of you are 85 and 90 years of age, you are still alive.

I would like to add this word of consolation. When God created man He created in him a longing for the things of this world. He created in him a longing for food of the various kinds; he created in him a longing for raiment of the many different kinds; He created in him a longing for improved modes of travel with which the world is blessed today; He created in him a longing for the many materials that are found in the mineral, vegetable and animal kingdoms; He created in him a longing for the many inventions for the utilizing of the powers of nature and the saving of labor; and he created in him a longing for eternal life beyond the grave. And since God, to a large extent, has satisfied man's longing for earthly things, that is strong evidence that he will satisfy that longing for heavenly things.

Henry Watterson telegraphed to his old comrades at a reunion a short time before his death in which he stated in substance: "There will be another great re-union when we'll gather around that great white throne, where the flowers bloom forever, where the bands will be playing Dixie, and where we will sing forever "Praise God from whom all blessings flow."

JOHN H. WORKS SUDDEN DEATH IN OLKAHOMA

Tony McDonald and wife of McKinney have been called to Henryetta, Oklahoma, on account of the death there Thursday night, July 26, of Mrs. McDonald's brother, John H. Work, who succumbed suddenly with heart trouble. His unexpected passing greatly shocked his family and friends who were wholly unprepared for the swift messenger of death that overtook him at the age of 50 years.

The deceased is survived by his wife and two sons, 9 and 11 years old. Also by four sisters and one brother as follows: Mrs. Fred Othman, St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. B. B. Pugh and Mrs. James A. Smith, both of Henryetta, Okla.; and Mrs. Tony McDonald of McKinney. His surviving brother is Ed Work of San Francisco, Calif. The late D. Work of Lebanon, and later of McKinney, was his brother. Both of his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Work, are buried in Pecan Grove cemetery here at McKinney.

Former Deputy Collin Official.

The deceased was at one time engaged in the mercantile business at Lebanon, Southwest Collin. Later he moved to McKinney, where he resided for a number of years. While living here, he was deputy tax collector under the administration of Yancy Powell. He was also a deputy tax assessor under the late J. W. McElwain. He then moved to Durant, Okla., where he was a cotton broker for many years. For the past five years he had lived in and enjoyed a profitable business in Henryetta, Okla.

The deceased was a devout christian who lived and practiced its precepts in his everyday life. He had never been known to speak unkindly of anyone. He was a man of retiring disposition, but a most courteous gentleman and a competent, efficient business man. He was a member of the Masonic fraternity. His interment took place at 4 o'clock today (Saturday) July 28, in the cemetery at Durant, Okla., where he formerly lived.

The many friends of John H. Work regret to hear of his premature death and extend sincere condolence to Mrs. McDonald and her surviving sisters and brothers in the sorrow that has come to them so unexpectedly.

MRS. DICK ALLEN IS VISITING IN VIRGINIA

Mrs. Dick Allen has gone to Roanoke, Va., to visit her mother, Mrs. A. I. Burger, who makes her home there with another daughter. Mrs. Burger and her late husband, a well known McKinney cotton ginner and threshing machine man, reared his family here. Mr. Burger has been deceased a number of years. His widow has better health in Virginia, where she was born and reared and therefore returned to her old home there a few years ago, where she has since resided.

T. O. C. JONES VISITING HIS DAUGHTER, MRS. E. HAWKINS

T. O. C. Jones of Denton enjoyed the big McKinney picnic where he met many old friends. He recently returned from Alexandria, La., where he visited his son, W. Carroll Jones, and wife, who live there. He is now visiting his daughter, Mrs. Ernest Hankins and husband in McKinney here, where Mr. Jones formerly made his home for many years. He now resides with a married daughter in Denton most of the time.

Rowdy McCowan In Pretty Balloon Flight On Friday Afternoon

Rowdy McCown, McKinney citizen, made his first parachute drop from a Balloon yesterday afternoon about 7 o'clock from the picnic grounds. Mr. McCown is well known here and his friends were anxious that his first ascension proved such a success.

The flight was perhaps the most beautiful of any over made during a picnic here. The big bag after it left the ground, rose high up in the heavens and sailed in a northeasterly direction. McCown received a new thrill in the flight, but did not feel nervous from his new venture. He heard the shots from the ground, when it was thought time for him to cut loose, and he pulled the rope to the knife that cut him loose from the big bag. The parachute opened at once and glided down to earth, in a Johnson grass pasture east of East Fork creek, where he was met and brought back to the city.

A coincidence of the ascension was the fact that the big balloon and parachute used by McCown in his first flight, were new and used for the first time by him Friday.

With fair weather predominating, McCown was scheduled to make two flights this afternoon, one about 3 o'clock and the other about 6 o'clock.

Seven Convicts In Break From Farm; Kill Dog Sergeant

HOUSTON, Texas, July 28.—Seven desperate convicts, serving terms ranging up to life imprisonment, were being sought over South Texas today following a sensational break late Friday at the Imperial State Prison farm No. 2, in which Henry Ward, a dog sergeant, was slain, and two deputy sheriffs were seriously wounded.

Apparently none of the seven men who escaped suffered injury during the running gun battle.

The escaped men include R. R. Carter, notorious bank robber, who was serving a ninety-nine-year term from Dallas county; Alvin Ireland, serving twenty years; Fred Burket, serving ten years and Johnny Collins, serving two years.

Enrollment At State U. Good

AUSTIN, Texas, July 26.—"The fact that the enrollment for the summer session at the University of Texas this year is only slightly less than it was in 1927 is exceeding'y gratifying," said Dr. D. Aff Penick, director, in a recent summary of the enrollment situation. "By the time all the candidates for degrees, including those who are absentia, are enrolled the total will be very less than last year. Final figures are 3,164 for this year and 3,287 for last summer. Some of the reasons that might be assigned for the decrease are the following:

"First, there has been a decided increase in the number of junior colleges in the state, and practically all of them are offering summer courses.

"Second, there was an unusually large enrollment last year of those students who were getting rid of their extra third and two-third courses that they might register during the long session on the semester basis without inconvenience.

"Third, the difficulty of fitting the summer session thirds into the long semesters doubtless deters some undergraduates from taking summer work.

Roy Apple and little 12-year-old son, Avery, of Dallas visited his mother, Mrs. G. B. Apple in McKinney Friday. Mr. Apple owns some rent houses in McKinney, and while here looked after business interests for the day. He formerly lived here but for several years has been a paper and paint contractor of Dallas.

Did You Ever Stop To Think

By Edson R. Waite, Shawnee, Okla.

W. C. Simons, publisher of the Lawrence (Kansas) Journal-World, says:

"Did you ever stop to think that we are all employees? The man who works for wages and the man who owns the business both hold their positions by reason of earnest, capable and efficient work. One serves the public through his employer and the other more directly through his service, merchandise, or both.

"The employee who does his work well is always sure of a job at a fair wage. Most employers appreciate that sort of service and wish to hold such help as long as they can. But even if your employer does not seem to appreciate your work, still do your best, because good men are in demand and someone will notice the quality of work you are doing and will be willing to pay you accordingly. On the other hand, if you are careless, neglectful and inefficient, you will lose one job after another.

"The owner of the business, whatever it may be, can only contiuue in business by rendering a service that will attract and hold customers. If he neglects his business, if he is incapable, dishonest, or tactless in meeting the people, he will lose his job as an owner, because someone more deserving will take his customers away.

"Finally, there is no magic in which one may reach into the air to secure money to pay himself a profit or to furnish money for his pay roll. Each is doing his full share to make a successful business when the employer brings in the customers and the workers see that the customers are satisfied. That is ideal team work in which everyone is benefited."

CRIPPLED SOVIET ICE BREAKER HEARS S O S; HEADS TO SAVE 1,500 ABOARD GERMAN SHIP

MOSCOW, July 26.—The Tass News agency correspondent aboard the Russian ice-breaker Krassin radioed at 5:20 p. m. Wednesday that the Krassin was hearing SOS calls from the German steamer Monte Cervantes with 1,500 passengers aboard. The Krassin has put about and was heading for Bell Sound, Spitzbergen, from where the signals are believed to have come.

At the time of receiving the signals the Kasrsin, which made an enviable record of rescues of members of the party of the ill-fated Italia party around Spitzbergen, was en route to Northern Norway for repairs.

The sturdy 10,000-tonner suffered damage to her propeller in bucking the heavy ice floes through which she forced her way to the Nobile camp. Efforts to repair the damage at King's Bay failed because of lack of proper equipment.

Tunney Asserts Body Blows Wore Heeney Down; A Good Fight

NEW YORK, N. Y., July 27.—The world today recognized in Gene Tunney one of the greatest fighters of all times. This great fighter won his way to victory last night over Tom Heeney, as stout-hearted a boxer as ever waged a hopeless fight.

Referee Eddie Forbes stopped the bout after two minutes and fifty-two seconds of the eleventh round. Heeney was limp against the ropes and Tunney was measuring him for a knock-out. It would have been the first time in his career that the count of ten had been tolled over the challenger.

Heeney said he would carry the fight to Tunney and he did. Always he was lunging forward, flailing with his pudgy arms and taking two blows to land one. Heeney had only one punch—a looping right to the head. Invariably he telegraphed it five seconds before it came across by jockeying his legs into position and dropping his shoulder. When the punch finally arrived Tunney was not there.

"My body blows wore him down and enabled me to win," Tunney said in his dressing room after the fight.

H. R. GLASS 15 YEARS STATION AGENT AT RULE

H. R. Glass, station agent for fifteen years at Rule, Haskell county, is a former Collin county man. He lived at Farmersville, where the Glass family were pioneer settlers in that portion of East Collin. Mr. Glass is engaged with L. B. Wyatt Jr., a former young Princeton citizen, in the ownership of the Farmers' Produce company at Rule. L. B. Wyatt Jr. is the active manager and Mr. Glass is a silent partner in the concern, which is doing a nice business. We like to hear of our good friends and former Collinites doing well in their adopted homes, when they move away to some other parts of the state as did Messrs. Glass and Wyatt. We always regret giving them up, but wish them good fortune wherever they may be located.

W. J. S. RUSSELL HERE AT OLD HOME

W. J. S. Russell, a former McKinney business man and real estate dealer who has lived in Grayson county for a number of years, was here part of the time during the picnic. He is a brother of George and Charley Russell, well-known mule men and farm owners. While living in McKinney, Mr. Russell opened up three or four additions in the southeastern part of the city known as the Russell additions—one, two, three and four.

MUST BE SHOWN CO-OPERATION

Edson R. Waite of Shawnee, Oklahoma, says that the future of every city rests in the hands of its individual citizens. If a city is to become the city that every loyal citizen believes it will become, there must be shown a great spirit of co-operation before the community spirit can be developed.

A city must have men and women who are willing to work for the good of the city as well as for individual interests, but they can get no where until they first have faith in the home city.

Where faith exists there is no task too great, when there is co-operation, backed up with energy.

Mistakes of the past must be forgotten.

Every citizen must be a home city booster.

They should spend their money at home.

The home city will be what the home people want it to be when they keep awake and keep pushing ahead until they reach their goal.

Waiting for something to happen never built a city, because things don't just happen.

If a city wants something to happen, they must keep busy until it happens.

THE CENTURY PLANT AT TEXAS UNIVERSITY

AUSTIN, Texas, July 26.—Not just once in a coon's age, nor even once in a blue moon, but once in a lifetime—that's the thought that is bound to occur to the person who stands on the campus of the University of Texas and watches the agave, commonly known as the century plant, slowly wither and lose its beauty.

Standing 27 feet tall, with a cluster of more than two dozen creamy-white blossoms which vaguely resemble cauliflower at the very top of a palm-like stalk, the century plant excites the awed, admiring curiosity of every pessar-by. Adding to the grotesqueness of the strange growth is a fringe of leaves which look like a species of bear-grass or cactus.

The century plant was given to the university in 1908 by Harry Landa of New Braunfels, who procured it from Mexico. Contrary to the implication of the common name given the plant, the agave blooms only once in twenty-five years. This is the second one to bloom on the university campus, according to H. B. Beck, campus caretaker, the other having blossomed several years ago.

SANDINO FLEES AND NICARAGUA CONFLICT ENDS

SUPERIOR, Wis., July 26.—The year-old struggle in Nicaragua between American forces and armed guerilla bands, which took about a score of United States marines' lives, has been reported to President Coolidge as virtually ended.

Rear Admiral David F. Sellers, commander of the special service squadron, in a report, presented to the chief executive by Secretary Wilbur of the Navy department, said that it was almost certain that Augusto Sandino, Nicaraguan guerilla leader, had given up the fight abandoning the country and leaving his followers to surrender their arms and disperse.

Sandino and his band, operating in the hills in the northwestern corner of Nicaragua, had constituted the obstacle to complete pacification of the country ever since Henry L. Stimson, acting as Mr. Coolidge's personal representative, managed last year to induce two warring political factions in Nicaragua to abandon civil war in return for a guarantee of a fair and American-supervised election this fall.

◆ ◆ ◆

Insurgents Surrender.

Admiral Sellers' report added that practically all insurgent armed bands had surrendered, leaving the country free from any active or armed opposition to American efforts to stabilize Nicaragua before actually holding the election next November.

Admiral Sellers also reported that American policies in Nicaragua were generally working out satisfactorily, promising peaceful and honest balloting.

Sandino is thought to have gone into Honduras, close to whose frontier he had maintained strongholds and across which he is said to have derived most of his supplies while engaged in skirmishing with American marines and native constabulary. The disruption of his forces was attributed in large measure to assurances which had been given and widely published in Nicaragua that members of any illegal armed bodies who spontaneously surrendered their arms would be given amnesty.

CAPT. QUINCY L. BRIDGES AND HIS NOTED DRILL TEAM OF M'KINNEY WOODMEN BRING HOME NEW LAURELS

AT STATE ENCAMPMENT AT GALVESTON AGAIN THIS YEAR—ARE IN CLASS TO THEMSELVES PERSONNEL OF THE TEAM.

Capt. Quincy L. Bridges of the Uniform team, Magnolia camp No. 431, Woodmen of the World of this city, was called home from Galveston, where the state encampment was being held, by the serious illness of his father, who died about the time that the son arrived home.

Capt. Bridges took the team to Galveston to compete for honors before the state encampment. He has been winning with his team every years since 1916. There are sixty-five evolutions to be made in rotation during the contests. Other points on which they are scored are proficiency, personal appearance of the team, arms and passing the inspection. A number of teams always contest from over the state, but Capt. Bidges has his team in the pink of condition and usually has very little trouble in carrying off the first prize in floor work. The McKinney team also held first prize in field drill for years.

J. C. Haley won individual manual of arms for three years.

A. D. Majors has won second prize in guard duty.

The team's expenses are defrayed by the state encampment, which is only too glad to have its skilled work performed before the grand encampment for the inspiration that it will be to the membership to carry back to their respective camps in every portion of the state.

May Go to National Encampment.

The McKinney team will be encouraged to attend the national encampment next year, which may be held at Havana, Cuba. Too much praise cannot be given Capt. Bridges for the patient study and skill he has displayed in training his team into a perfect machine, whose evolutions on the floor in drill work win the plaudits of the Woodmen from every part of the state. McKinney Woodmen are shedding much honor upon their home town and county by their efficiency and faithfulness in drill practice and in executing the floor work of their great fraternal and insurance order.

Capt. Bridges is quite proud of his boys, all of whom he says are faithful in attendance and deserve praise and commendation from all our citizenship for the manner in which they do their team work.

STEWART WINS OVER JOHN D.

NEW YORK, July 26.—The New York World Wednesday says that Col. Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, has checkmated the efforts of John D. Rockefeller Jr. to force him from the leadership of the $500,000,000 corporation.

According to unimpeachable informants, says the World, Col. Stewart has corralled 51 per cent of the stock of the corporation which he now controls by ownership or proxy.

Demands that Colonel Stewart resign his post were made by Mr. Rockefeller after Stewart refused to testify before the Senate Teapot Dome investigating committee.

The World says Wall street is talking of a possible tightening of the alliance between Harry F. Sinclair, head of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil company and Colonel Stewart, the operations of the two companies already have been combined in the purchase of crude oil and the transportation of oil by pipe line. Their possible operation as a unit would create the largest single group in the oil refining and marketing industry in the world.

He returned to Kentucky, but after living there a while came back to Texas, landing here the second time in 1886 and living the remainder of his life in and around McKinney. He worked for a good many years for the late W. C. Burrus on the latter's farm, in his flour mill and in the old Burrus gin. Farming was in the main his lifetime calling.

3 More of 8 Escaped Convicts Are Caught, Two in Exclusive Part of Houston, One in Marsh

HOUSTON, Texas, July 30.—With the capture of three of the eight convicts that shot their way to freedom from the Sugarland Imperial State farm No. 2 Friday, the most intensive man hunt in the history of this part of the state closed Sunday. One officer was killed and three wounded in the dash for liberty.

Four of the fugitives were arrested a few hours after the prison break. Fred Burkett and Johnny Collins were caught by city detectives in an exclusive residential part of Houston late Saturday and Irving Davis was tracked by bloodhounds and recaptured in the marshes near the Brazos river.

All three were near exhaustion from their flight under a torrid Texas sun. One of them was armed. They submitted without a struggle, although it had been expected a battle would be fought when the officers came up with them.

One man is still at large. It is believed he had nothing to do with the shooting, but escaped during the excitement.

Henry Ward, dog sergeant at the prison farm, was killed by the convicts when they suddenly turned on him and began their attempt to escape. Shortly afterward the fugitives fought a battle with officers sent to intercept them. Tom Davis, Richmond deputy sheriff, was the most seriously wounded of the three officers shot down. He is at a hospital in Rosenberg, where it is said his condition is improved.

History of Our Food—Wheat

By C. E. MELTON

Without a doubt the most important food given to man from the vegetable kingdom is that of bread. So important is bread to the life of man that it has been named the "staff of life," as a bread material wheat and its sub-species stands unchallenged for first place in choice with the great masses of the world.

It is not known just how early in the life of the race that man began the use of wheat in the making of bread. It is very probable that it was so early in the process of civilization that it marked the beginning of agriculture. The fact that nowhere in nature is wheat found in the wild state suggests that its cultivation must have been very early in history.

The original home of wheat is generally conceded to be in the region around Mt. Aarat in Mespotamia. It is suggested that possibly Noah found great fields of wheat waiting the scythe when he descended from the ark. A species of wheat resembling our Speltz is known to have been grown by the lake dwellers in Switzerland, but our common wheat must have started from Mesopotamia. It first found its way east into China, where it was quick in gaining favor with the early Chinese. Then west to Western Europe.

It was in the beginning of the 16th century that wheat found its way into the new world. Its introduction first into Mexico was said to have been by accident. Some negro slaves brought over from Spain are said to have brought along a supply of rice, in which was mixed some wheat. This found its way into the ground and accounted for itself in that way, and soon became a staple crop. Its introduction into South America was intentional having been brought into that country by the monks from Belgium about a half century later than its introduction into Mexico.

In every country on the globe some land is found where wheat does well, even in Africa in the highlands of the south, which are said to be some splendid wheat lands. But the greatest wheat producing countries of the earth are the great plains of North and South America.

It is a peculiar incident in history that the countries that gave the West its start of wheat now look to the west for their daily bread.

M'KINNEY W. O. W. TEAM VICTORS AT STATE ENCAMPMENT

HELD LAST WEEK AT GALVESTON—CHAMPIONS FOR 12 YEARS.

Members of the drill team of Magnolia camp, Woodmen of the World of this city arrived home from Galveston Saturday, where they had been for six or eight days attending the state W. O. W. encampment. The team won first prize in dress parade, bringing back a large silk banner offered to the first prize winner by Sovereign Commander W. A. Fraser. The banner bears the inscription "Uniform Rank Encampment, W. A. Fraser, Commander, W. O. W. Prize Winner's Dress Parade."

The McKinney company is known as Company A, 98th regiment. The officers won first prize in floor work. Due to the critical illness and ensuing death of W. R. Bridges, father of Capt. Q. L. Bridges, of the team, it did not enter the contest this year. However, the first prize came to North Texas, the Gunter team being the winner.

The McKinney team also won second in discipline. Farmersville had its team and band along on the trip. Twenty of its band were initiated into the order by the McKinney team as it competed in the work before the state encampment. There were four or five women members of the band present.

Various athletic and amusement contests were engaged in during the encampment. In the horseshoe pitching contest Marvin Smith and Walter Wilson, both of McKinney, won second. In the croquet contest J. W. Tinsley and G. W. Lepeard of McKinney, won prize, and J. B. McKinney and Jack Haley of McKinney won second. Teams from all over the state participated in these contests.

Texas Traction Pioneer Is Dead

NEW YORK, July 30.—Word was received today of the death in Toronto Friday of John Philip Flynn, 74, who was a telegrapher with Thomas A. Edison. Later he became a newspaper man, railroad construction engineer and a prominent mining engineer.

Flynn was born in Elburn, Ill., starting as a telegrapher, by the time he was 18 years old he had risen to the position of train dispatcher with the Northwestern railroad in Chicago.

He then engaged in railroad and mining engineering and in 1884 he built and financed in Laredo, Texas, one of the earliest electric street car lines in the United States. Going to Mexico, he assisted in construction of the railroad line between Monterrey and Tampico and was instrumental in attracting English capital to a number of large Mexican mines.

When the Cobalt boom started in Canada in 1905, he was active in development of a number of mines in that region.

R. L. STIFF CAME DOWN TO PICNIC FROM ADA, OKLA.

Robert L. Stiff and daughter, Miss Una Mary, have returned to their home at Ada, Okla., after attending the Old Settlers' picnic and ex-Confederate reunion at McKinney again this year. Miss Una Mary was a guest of Miss Sallie Kindle at the home of the latter's mother, Mrs. G. B. Kindle, during her stay in the city. Robert L. Stiff is a nephew of W. W. Stiff of this city, and also visited other relatives among them, Jim Stiff in the Stiff Chapel community; Lon Martin and wife near Melissa; and Jim Martin of Melissa.

Bob Stiff came from Kentucky to Collin county forty-four years ago and made his home here for fifteen years. He then made his home at Woodville and later at Asher, Okla., until some years ago, when he then moved to Ada, where he still resides. He bought cotton for eleven years for the Birge-Forbes Cotton company of Sherman, and for the past three or four years has been buying in the Rio Grande valley during the cotton season.

En route home, Mr. Stiff and daughter, visited his sister, Mrs. Minnie Taylor and his brother, City Marshal Jim Stiff, both of Woodville, Okla. We were mighty glad to receive a visit from our oldtime friend, while he was in McKinney. He paid $1.50 for the Weekly Democrat-Gazette for another year in advance. Mr. Stiff met a number of his old Collin friends during the picnic and enjoyed renewing many acquaintances.

HENRY BASS VISITS OLD McKINNEY HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bass and little son, Henry Jr., all of Oklahoma City, visited friends in this city Saturday. Mr. Bass, who holds a responsible position with the Oklahoma Gas & Electric company, had been enjoying the past two weeks' vacation, which he and his wife and son chiefly spent in Gainesville, to visit relatives before proceeding on to their Oklahoma home Sunday.

Mr. Bass is well-known in this city where he was formerly kookkeeper and cashier for the Mathews Bros. big dry goods establishment here several years ago. He has been away from McKinney for several years, but his host of friends are always glad to see him back on his occasional visits to McKinney.

FORMER COLLINITE PROUD OF GROWTH OF M'KINNEY

L. B. Wyatt Jr., a young merchant of Rule, Haskell county, attended the big McKinney picnic. He stated that it had been dry in his part of Haskell county until the rain of July 25, which all gladly welcomed. Mr. Wyatt reports that the trade territory around Rule is an excellent farming section of Haskell county, and has not made a crop failure in ten years.

While in McKinney Mr. Wyatt, who had been away for four years, noted with a great deal of pride, the very marked improvement in McKinney as a town. He got some pictures of our newly reconstructed courthouse to take back home with him to show his relatives and other former Collin county citizens who now reside in and around Rule.

Mr. Wyatt says that he likes West Texas so well that he will probably remain there, but if he had to move anywhere else, he knows no place that he would prefer living than here in McKinney because it has all the conveniences—paved streets, natural gas, abundance of pure water, electric lights and sewerage system. It is a town in the midst of an unexcelled agricultural country with pretty, well-improved farms and creditable farm homes. He congratulates those who have the good fortune of living in such a highly favored town and county.

Mr. Wyatt says his father's family enjoy reading their old home county paper, the Weekly Democrat-Gazette, every week. It is brim full of interesting county-wide news in every issue. He says "It has been our favorite family fireside paper for many years."

J. A. Williams, Allen Farmer Is Pleased With Crops So Far

J. A. Williams, an excellent farmer and worthy citizen, whose farm is located about five miles south of McKinney on the Exall highway, was in the city Saturday. He stated that his corn crop is already made and is fine. His cotton is also doing nicely, being already well fruited and holding its fruit, so far very satisfactorily. But the cloudy, damp days that we have been having lately are favorable to the boll worms and boll weevil and he is fearing severe damage to his cotton crop from that source unless the weather becomes dry and hot right away again soon.

UNCLE BILLY COX STILL ENJOYING GOOD HEALTH

Bob Stiff of Ada, Okla., who attended the 79th annual picnic at McKinney this year, states that our old friend, W. T. Cox, now living at Ada, Okla., is enjoying fairly good health. Mr. Cox served six or eight terms as district clerk of Collin county before moving up to Ada, a number of years ago. Since moving up there, Mr. Cox has served in the same office in that county.

Uncle Billy Cox is a man who easily makes and holds friends and he demonstrated both in Texas and Oklahoma that the voters often gladly supported his candidacy, and he always made a faithful and efficient public servant. We are glad to hear through Mr. Stiff that Uncle Billy and his good wife are both in the enjoyment of fairly good health. We would like for these good old friends, Mr. and Mrs. Cox, to visit their former home here at McKinney again stometime. Their many friends here think lots of them.

G. B. WHITMIRE VISITOR HERE

We had the pleasure recently of shaking hands with our old friend, G. E. Whitmire of Parker county, west of Fort Worth, about eighty-five miles from McKinney.

Mr. Whitmire is a former resident of McKinney, and is enjoying shaking hands and renewing friendships in this city. Mr. Whitmire had the misfortune of losing his wife March 5, this year, he informed us while in the city. She had been in ill health for several months. Mr. Whitmire is running a farm and is living alone, all his children being married. He informed us that he had in twenty acres of cotton this year which should make half a bale to the acre, if no infestation comes. He also has fifteen acres of corn, which should make fifty bushels to the acre. He had in eight acres of oats from which he gathered twenty-one bushels this year.

Mr. Whitmire came over to McKinney to attend the annual Collin County Confederate and Old Settlers' picnic and reunion last week.

DALLAS, July 26.—John R. Haswell, 45, of 2300 Bennett avenue, a dealer in used automobiles, was shot and killed at 5:50 o'clock Wednesday afternoon while fleeing from the home of John W. Smith, 626 West Page street, Oak Cliff.

One bullet struck Haswell near his heart. He ran across the street from the house and fell, dying in a few minutes and before a physician arrived.

Mrs. John W. Smith and Mrs. Ruby Clara Hodges of 1223 South Henderson avenue were in the Smith home at the time of the shooting.

Mr. Smith operates a grocery at 1028 Comal street, Oak Cliff. He returned to Dallas unexpectedly in the afternoon from a fishing trip on the Neches river, he told officers.

Mrs. Hodges told officers that she and Haswell went to the Smith home Tuesday afternoon, remaining there until Wednesday evening. Smith said he fired four or five shots and that he does not know which one took effect. He said he chased Haswell around his house two or three times, firing his pistol as they ran.

Mr. Smith has two sons by a former marriage and one small daughter from the present union.

Mr. Haswell is survived by his wife and two daughters.

Smith was arrested at his home shortly after the shooting by Policemen C. A. Fanning and D. Killingsworth. A formal complaint charging Smith with the shooting was sworn out before Assistant District Attorney Tom Clark for filing in Justice Ben H. Fly's court.

Smith, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Hodges all made statements to Assistant District Attorneys Clark and Gossett Greer and Plainclothes Policemen George Brooks and Earl Poff. Smith was placed in the county jail and with other witnesses will go Thursday before the grand jury, the investigating officers said.

TEXAS SPENDS LITTLE FOR PROTECTION OF FISH AND GAME, SAYS

AUSTIN, Texas, July 26.—That Texas is spending little in comparison to other progressive states for the protection of fish and game was revealed in a statement today by Commissioner Wm. J.
